

TZ-069E

Stegmaier, Elizabeth

From: Zelazny, Leon
Sent: Saturday, March 29, 2003 6:26 PM
To: Stegmaier, Elizabeth
Subject: FW: Tappan Zee Bridge Alternate

Elizabeth,

Additional comment

Please add to our databse and the report

Thanks

Leon

-----Original Message-----

From: SReptak@kraftintlhq.com [mailto:SReptak@kraftintlhq.com]
Sent: Friday, March 28, 2003 9:56 AM
To: tzbsite@thruway.state.ny.us
Subject: Tappan Zee Bridge Alternate

I feel the absolute best way to limit traffic and ware on the bridge is to create a rail service. Something similar to the path from Hoboken NJ to Manhattan subways. We need to have parking on Jersey side of the river, take a path to the other side, and have a either a subway or train taking you to seperate stops along the way ending at 95. It would take some time to figure out if you want to go over or under the Hudson, but once that decision is made, it should not be that difficult to link these rails to others in place. I am not too sure where they are, or if they even exist, but familiar with the train station in Rye which would be ideal for my travels. I am sure that Kraft, the company I work for, would even possibly help out by providing a shuttle to and from the Rye station. Just an idea. Good luck!

10

Thanks and Regards,
Steven P. Reptak
KFI Export Supply Chain
Ph: 914.335.9573
Fax: 914.335.7609
Email: SReptak@kraftintlhq.com